

SARALEE has just discovered that her younger sister MAYBELLINE has hidden a baby in the house. MAYBELLINE is no longer allowed to care for children after an incident at a day care.

SARALEE

Maybelline, what was all that noise this morning up in- Oh, what in hell is this now? Is that a baby? Jesus Christ, Maybelline, is that a baby? Don't hide it behind your back like I can't see it, I saw it already.

Where the fuck did you get a baby at nine o'clock in the morning?

Oh you are killing me.

Maybelline, whose fucking child is this?

Answer me, don't just look at me like that, your eyes filling up like little swimming pools, you say something!

Who in their right mind would hand you a baby to take care of?

You ain't workin' at the Kindercastle no more because you- And I know you understood what the police said 'cause we talked about it again and again. It's fine that you love little ones and all, but ain't no way you ought to be baysittin' on the side while me and Duke are off at work. It ain't safe, you understand?

You tell me whose baby this is, and you're gonna call them up and you're gonna explain the whole thing, not me, not me, do you understand? Do you even know the list of shit I have gone through for you? To make sure that you don't- And here I walk in and you got a baby in your arms.

Jesus Christ, Maybelline I cannot wait until you are out of my life. Every minute of every goddamn day. Every minute.